Living en plein air | Lounges by Gervasoni

The Gervasoni Outdoor collection is designed to give life to authentic living areas en plein air, privileged places to spend one's free time between relaxing breaks and pleasant moments in company. The outdoors becomes an open-air "room", capable of transformation allowing different aesthetic and functional needs to be met. The selection of natural and technical materials processed with expert manual skills and innovative technologies, essential for a range of furniture that wants to fit harmoniously into nature, is at the heart of a project that stems from a deep research activity carried out by the company, thanks also to the collaboration with numerous design signatures. Thanks to Gervasoni, the outdoors becomes a theater of atmospheres and unique moments to be enjoyed together with those you love, an oasis where you can take refuge when you want to get away from the daily chaos.

Flair Collection

Gabriele and Oscar Buratti sign the Flair collection, an informal product in its use, soft in its curves, and at the same time controlled in its design. For the first time, Gervasoni offers a modular outdoor sofa, a system consisting of large poufs of different shapes and sizes, with traditional rectangular modules flanked by other hexagonal ones, which can be freely combined to create new compositions each time.
